

Crosfields Parents' Association Safer Internet Presentation

James Schlackman from Crosfields School will be making a presentation on Thursday 9th February from 7.30pm in Acorns Hall.

There are many issues that become apparent when our children have access to the internet. We may ensure that our home computers have all the necessary safeguards for minors but are we all aware of the many other areas where our children may be exposed and become at risk?

This presentation will help us understand how children use the internet – and what for – so we can prepare and protect our children for the inevitable minefield that is the World Wide Web.

This informative evening is for adults only, there is no charge but we would appreciate you complete a reply slip so that we can better prepare for the evening. We anticipate that the talk, with a question and answer section and complimentary refreshments, will last no longer than two hours.

If you do have any questions please contact cpa@crosfields.com

Please return slip to the school office by Friday 3rd February
